YOUR ELECTRIC STOVE: Miss Caroline Judson, Home Designing-Specialist, Alberta Dept. of Agriculture has some tips for us on the care of that new electric stove:

The purchase of an electric stove represents a substantial outlay, be sure you take care of it. Use saucepans and kettles that fit the elements. A small pan on a large element wastes electricity; a large pan extending over the element will discolor and crack the enamel stove top. Sometimes it is necessary to use a pan larger than the element. In this case, get a sheet of asbestos about two inches larger than the diameter of the bottom of the pan. Lay it on the range and cut a hole in the centre the size of the element. This exposes the element but protects the chrome and porcelain surrounding it.

Use perfectly flat bottomed pans for an even distribution of heat. Pans should have tight fitting covers. When you cook vegetables do so in a small amount of water and generate a large amount of steam. This in turn makes economical cooking in costs and helps you keep the food value in your meals.

Alternate the use of your surface elements; Reduce the heat as soon as food starts to boil. Water that boils gently is just as hot as water that bubbles fiercely.

Immediately wipe up water, acid or fat spilled on the elements or enamel. Cold water will crack, acid and fat will stain the white surface.

Careful use and common sense will greatly prolong the life and beauty of your electric stove.

The dresser in my room is maple and it seemed a shame to cover the dresser top with a runner, yet there were times when there were chances of spilling liquids on it. To take care of both difficulties, I am now using a transparent plastic cover. The top is protected and still visible.

The census bureau says American women are better educated than American men.

Women over 25 have an average of six months more schooling than males in the same group, the bureau said. Its report was based on 1951 census figures.

SAVAGE

THE TRACTOR, A LETHAL WEAPON

The farm tractor can be one of the most lethal weapons with which we have to deal. Each year many deaths are caused by this machine being carelessly or improperly operated, and almost equally as bad are the innumerable accidents that cause loss of limbs, permanent disabilities, and loss of time and revenue.

The most usual accidents are caused by overturning, either sideways or backwards. The main reasons for upsetting accidents are high speed, uneven application of wheel brakes, improper hitching and 'homemade traction,' where a log or post is bolted on to the tractor wheel with the idea of letting the tractor pull itself out of a hole.

Carelessness around power take-off shafts, belts, pulleys and other rapidly moving parts cause many accidents. Care in shielding these parts is another wise precaution. Cranking the tractor while in gear maims several people each year and generally does other damage. One of the most common causes of farm accidents is fatigue. When the operator becomes tired his reflexes are slowed down considerably warns C. A. Cheshire, Extension Engineer, Alberta Dept. of Agriculture. This makes the handling of any power equipment very dangerous. Be Careful!

When my brother brought a puppy home and remarked that it was part hound, his boy, 7, asked promptly: "Will it be all hound when it is all grown?"

Raymond Recorder,
Raymond, Alberta
Dear Sir:

As requested, we submit this brief report of the results of our canvass in the town of Raymond.

Total amount subscribed to our Red Shield Appeal was $116.00, a slight increase over 1952. A number of business firms were not contacted and in some cases the manager being away a donation was not secured. No door to door canvassing was done in the residential areas.

Please express our sincere thanks to the people of Raymond for their support of our work again this year. Also, perhaps you would be good enough to invite others to send in their donations to the Lethbridge Corps if they were not contacted.

Thank you in advance for your time and space in the Recorder.

Yours sincerely,
S. Nahirney, Captain
